

A. Commercial...

We've been working on a commercial release of jPFChat. However, those of you who have been following this, have been waiting for quite a while. It's because we've encountered a few technical glitches that haven't been easily solved. Our testing has indicated that we still have several little issues to iron out.

B. Rather than wait...

So, we've decided to go ahead and post the last stable release of jPFChat for now... as a continued "freebie". We're not really certain how long this will last. However, our hope is that we will move to a commercial release before the end of the year.

C. To Download, Click the Download Menu item above.

NOTICE: Due to personal circumstances beyond our control, this website, including all content, is for sale.
